Raymond Murdoch, Jr. Missing in Action

Second Lieutenant Raymond F. Murdoch, Jr., has been reported missing in action. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond F. Murdoch of 62 Paul Rogers road, received the telegram of notification on the same day that a letter came from him written at his base in England.

Lt. Murdoch was the pilot of a Thunderbolt and was lost in the raid of December 30th on the border line of France and Germany. Another Arlington boy in the same group has told the Murdochs that it was thought their son was not hurt but had been taken prisoner.

A graduate of Winchester High School, Lt. Murdoch received his training in Alabama, Arkansas and Florida.

Sergt. Spofford Home After Twenty-Five Raids

Staff Sergeant Philip Spofford is at the Crescent Hill avenue home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl S. Spofford, on a twenty-one day furlough, after two and one-half years away. In that time as a ball turret gunner in the Eighth Air Force he has taken part in fourteen raids on Western Germany, ten to Occupied France and one to Antwerp. He wears the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal with Oak Leaf Clusters. His story was told by John O'Connor in the Boston Sunday Herald. Sergt. Spofford described for him the raid on Flensburg on May 18th—

"The target was a submarine depot," he said. "Bugs Bunny, that was the name of our Fortress, was the lead ship in the Purple Heart Corps. Do you know anything about Purple Heart Corps? That's the place on the outer edge of the bomber formation, usually in the rear.

"Fighter opposition was the heaviest we had ever seen that day," he continued. "Scotty, our bombardier, was instantly killed on our first attack. Three-fourths of our tail was shot off by cannon fire. No. 3 engine was shot out and flak was found in No. 4 engine. Both wings were hit, and the pilot's windshield was smashed by enemy fire. The top turret and the ball turret were both hit and our waist was hit, but old 'Bugs' made it home.

Got Fighter Plane

"Albert got one from the upper turret," recalled Sgt. Spofford. "Kraus, the waist gunner, sent one down, and I got one for good with my ball turret. Capt. Adams got the Distinguished Flying Cross for bringing the ship home, and no wonder. There were 200-odd holes in it and he landed half on the runway and half on the airfield.

"We had to lighten the ship, so we did," he said. "We chucked everything into the ocean and then gathered in the radio room and just prayed."

Passed Out When Oxygen System Failed

Of the raid on Kiel, June 13th he said:

"It's lucky our ship was in good condition, because our oxygen system froze. It was way below zero where we were, and the waist gunner and myself passed out. The only way they found out about me, down in the ball-turret under the ship, was when they didn't hear my gas firing. There was nothing to be done about it, so I didn't come to until we got to a lower altitude and didn't need oxygen. I didn't do much that day."

On August 17th the youthful sergeant (he is twenty) won a special citation. His ship led the first shuttle-raid of the Eighth Air Force from England. The formation wrecked Regensburg and finally landed in North Africa. They were in the air 11 hours and 50 minutes and six hours were spent in constant combat.

"You can see all of it on the ground from the ball-turret," he said. "I could watch our bombs leave the ship and hit the target. The bombs just walk over the target, so it seems from my spot. I also could see the aircraft guns flash on the ground and see the shells burst some 20 seconds later. It's really a swell spot for sightseeing, the ball-turret."

Sunday Set for Wedding

Sgt. Spofford has pleasant plans for his furlough. Sunday is set for his marriage to Miss Catherine Enright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Enright of 55 Park avenue extension, in St. James' Church, North (Continued on Page 4)

FROST ANNOUNCES TOWN'S RED CROSS QUOTA AS $24,000

More Than 1200 Workers Needed to Raise Doubled Quota.

Edmund L. Frost, Arlington Red Cross War Fund Chairman, announces that the quota for Arlington in the forthcoming drive is to be $24,000, over twice the quota assigned Arlington last year.

Mr. Frost says, "The tremendous increase in our quota for this year gives some indication of the scope of the work which Red Cross has undertaken in its various services. Communities all along the line have had greatly increased quotas and Arlington must be prepared to do its share. This large amount can be raised only by the participation of all of Arlington's residents and to make sure that everyone is given the opportunity to contribute, it will be necessary for us to have a group of workers, totalling well over 1200. It is my sincere hope that many residents of the town, particularly those who have members of the family in the services, will come forward and volunteer to help as solicitors.

"If we can get enough people, the work of solicitation should not be too difficult; and it is our hope that it will be possible to assign the work so that no one person will have to make more than ten calls.

"Citizens who are willing to help in this most worthy cause may leave their names at Arlington Red Cross Headquarters, 673 Massachusetts avenue (Arl. 6540). We need and will appreciate the cooperation of everyone. The drive will begin March 1, 1944. Red Cross War Fund Headquarters will be at 675 Massachusetts avenue, immediately adjoining the regular Red Cross Headquarters."

PARMENTER LEADS AGAIN IN SALE OF WAR BONDS

Parmenter School was again the leader in the sale of War Bonds and stamps for the second week of the drive. The pupils bought Bonds to the value of $3,596.25 and Stamps, $247.10. They lead not only in the amount bought but in the amount per pupil bought. Second is Crosby where Bonds worth $2,328.75 and Stamps, $237.55, were bought. Russell, second last week in the amount per pupil, has dropped to third.

Major Canavan to Speak to Civilian Defense Personnel

Major John R. Canavan of the U. S. Field Artillery, who has recently returned from the South Pacific, will be the guest speaker at a mass meeting of all Civilian Defense personnel to be held at the Robbins Memorial Town Hall next Monday at 7:45 p. m. Major Canavan spent sixteen months in Guadalcanal, New Guinea and other points in the South Pacific area which have been featured in the news. Listeners are promised a most interesting talk about what our boys are experiencing in that theatre of war.

Prof. Richard P. Doherty, deputy executive director of the Massachusetts Committee on Public Safety and right hand man to J. W. Farley, will speak briefly on the present status of Civilian Defense in Massachusetts. Prof. Doherty will explain why it is imperative that we continue to keep our ARP personnel organized and ready for action.

As an added attraction the film, "The Life and Death of the Horne" which has been drawing packed houses in motion picture houses all over the country, will be shown.

All members of the Civilian Defense organization are urged to be present to attend. This is the first of a series of two or three general meetings which are being arranged for the coming months to provide information and interesting entertainment for Arlington's ARP personnel.

Alsen and Lowenhaupt New Gallon Club Members

When Nils Alsen gave his 8th pint of blood at the Red Cross Blood Donor Center, it was erroneously reported as Mrs. Alsen. Credit should be given to the man of the family who, like many other Arlington men, contributes regularly to this vital war work. Another new Gallon Club member is Fred Lowenhaupt, 45 Menotomy road.

Among the other men and women who have recently been listed in the Honor Roll Book of Blood Donors are: Gordon Plummer, 120 Massachusetts avenue, 7 times; John T. Mellen, 115 Overlook road, 5 times; Mrs. Edmund L. Frost, 325 Mystic street, 3 times; Mrs. William J. Cunnane, 30 Addison street, 2 times; Mrs. Charles Maguire, 32 Addison street, 1st time.

Sale of E. F. and G War Bonds in Arlington in January totaled $270,450.

MORE PEOPLE MUST BUY MORE BONDS IF TOWN MAKES $3,000,000 QUOTA

Still greater buying of United States War Bonds by individuals was urged this week. If Arlington is to reach its $3,000,000 quota before the end of the Fourth War Loan Drive on February 15.

Official reports from the Federal Reserve Bank show that Arlington has purchased $402,000 worth of War Bonds through last Friday. Of this amount $120,000 represented purchases of Series E bonds which are available for as little as $18.75 each. Since Friday, however, it is definitely certain that several thousand dollars' worth of bonds have been purchased, not only here but in other communities.

Meanwhile, the local campaign is progressing satisfactorily.

At a meeting held last Friday afternoon at the Arlington Five Cents Savings Bank, Donald Kidder and Harold Erickson, district committee members of the Arlington Boy Scouts, were present to assist the committee in mapping out plans whereby Arlington Scouts will call upon every home and leave an application blank for a Bond, to insure that no one has been overlooked. Those who have not already bought a bond during this campaign are asked to fill out the application blank and present it with their money to any of the Arlington banks or other issuing agencies such as the two Arlington theatres and the Arlington Gas Light Company. The main objective here is to see that individuals buy at least $400,000 worth of Series E Bonds during the drive—this amount representing Arlington's quota, set up by the State Committee.

While most precincts boast a fairly well organized group of solicitors, more workers are needed, especially in Precincts 4, 9, 11 and 13. It was announced at last Friday's meeting of the War Finance committee.

Total sales of War Bonds for the first month of this year in Arlington were $270,450, it was announced this week.

NEED MORE TROOPS FOR BOY SCOUTS

At the kick-off meeting of the Victory Membership Campaign Committee for Boy Scouts in Arlington, called by Chairman Paul J. Power and held last night at Headquarters, Mr. Power presented a clear picture of Arlington's scouting needs and plans were made for the formation of the necessary troops.

Sachem Council has pledged 23 new units and Arlington's quota is eight. These may be pack, troop or senior units.

Mr. Power's report showed that while the Heights section has an ample Cub program, three more Scout troops are needed to absorb the cubs when they reach the age of twelve. A troop from St. James' Church and one connected with Pack 30 will soon be registered. Mr. Power thinks there should be two more, one of these to tie in with the Cutter School pack.

At the end of 1943 Arlington had over $400,000 surplus revenue, says Town Treasurer J. Wilbert Anderson. Of this eighty or ninety thousand dollars is earmarked for streets accepted in 1942 and not yet built. No streets were accepted last year and none will be accepted this year.

Mr. Anderson believes that the town is in a prosperous condition. It has the lowest debt of any town in the state—about five dollars per capita. At the present rate it will be out of debt by 1949.

However, Mr. Anderson does not advocate a spending program or even a drastic reduction in the tax rate. He hopes that some of the surplus will be laid aside for future use. Last year the town bought $150,000 worth of War Bonds and he hopes that more will be bought this year.

After the war, he points out large capital outlays will be needed. The birth rate makes it certain that new schools will be needed. There is no question that more streets will have to be built. Now, too, citizens are better able to pay taxes than they may be when there are no defense jobs.

He does not believe in borrowing large sums if it can be avoided. In 1896, he says, the town borrowed money to build Menotomy Rocks Park. Since then it has paid twice the amount borrowed in interest. Moreover, this debt cannot be retired—it pays 4% interest to the holders of the bonds. However, this can't happen again as sinking funds have been outlawed.

The town is also getting back $23,431.18 of the money it has spent on the Boston Elevated. This will come as a credit from the state and amounts to a forty-two cent reduction on the tax rate.

CONSTRUCTIVE IDEAS

From all over the country come stories of juvenile delinquency—boys and girls running away from home and getting into trouble of the sort that will ruin their lives. This is tragedy; we are losing what our soldiers are dying for—the future of our boys and girls.

Efforts are being made all over the country to stem this growing tide of delinquency. In Massachusetts towns, including Arlington, committees have been appointed whose special duty it is to deal with this problem.

Our outlook, however, is more encouraging than that of most towns. The Chief of Police has reported that there were in Arlington seventy fewer cases of juvenile delinquency in 1943 than in 1942, the smallest number in six years.

Credit for this may go to several agencies, among them the police department itself where a special division is devoted to juvenile problems with one officer whose duty it is to deal with these problems. A map of the town is stuck with colored pins, each representing a delinquent so that this officer can tell at a glance in which sections the problem is most serious. The causes of delinquency are carefully investigated and, since the parent has not done it, the police explain to the young wrongdoer the difference between right and wrong and the consequences of a wrong act. The parents are also warned that they must be more careful of their activities in the home. It is always the effort of the police to keep out of court every child, if it is at all possible, since a court record will injure him for life.

The causes of juvenile delinquency, the chief finds various. Many of the delinquents come from good homes; others from unhappy homes, where the quarrels of the parents drive the children out. We are no longer in the horse and buggy days, when children kept closer to their homes. The auto means a night club and liquor after a dance. Young people don't get home until the early hours of the next morning. Sooner or later they get into trouble. Poor magazines and obscene literature he rates among the biggest crime breeders.

Juvenile crime, aside from its tragic results, is expensive. In terms of cash it is cheaper to prevent delinquency. The cost per year of a delinquent is $742. The expenditure of funds for organizations for youth guidance is minute in comparison with the money appropriated for the protection of property.

To such organizations as the Boys' Club, the Boy and Girl Scouts and the many church organizations is due credit for much of Arlington's low juvenile delinquency rate.

These, however, the Chief believes are not enough. He suggests the possibility of an extended use of the schools. One way is recreational diversions outside school hours, indoors and outdoors, directed by teachers. That this would help is proved by the fact that playgrounds have already reduced delinquency.

Another way is to select teachers who would give advice and guidance after school hours to pupils who wished it. This would be a character development program.

Here are two constructive ideas for the Youth Committee to work on.

O'Connor, 202 Florence avenue.

Burial was in Stow. Mrs. Schachl, who died Thursday at the age of seventy-four, was born in Alsace-Lorraine and came to this country 55 years ago. Besides her husband she leaves two sons, Frank Schachl of Waltham and Fred Schachl of Waverley; and three daughters, Mrs. O'Connor, Mrs. Katherine Splaine of Worcester and Mrs. Mary Kendall of Waltham.

G. FREDERICK CLEMENTS

G. Frederick Clements, retired deputy collector of customs, collapsed Friday afternoon on Massachusetts avenue, at Arlington Center, and died later at the Symmes Arlington Hospital.

Mr. Clements, who lived at 109 Claremont avenue, was born in Wales seventy-four years ago. He came to this country early in life and was in the Customs service for more than 40 years.

Before moving to Arlington 25 years ago, he lived in Dorchester and was a member of the Second Church (Congregational) in Dorchester. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Valetta (Dadmun) Clements; a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Clements Evans of Arlington Heights; three grandchildren and three great grandchildren. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon in the Hartwell chapel, with Dr. Paul E. Sheldon, minister of the Park Avenue Congregational Church, officiating. Burial was in Woodlawn cemetery, Wellesley.

PETER LOUPOS

Born in Sparta, Greece, seventy years ago, Mr. Loupos had lived in Arlington for most of his life since 1923. In 1929 he sold his business and with his family went to Greece, planning to make his home there. However, the family decided that Arlington was the better place, returned here and in 1930 bought the house where they now live. ONE DAY SOON, a neighbor may stop by to talk about the Fourth War Loan and the share your locality is expected to play in it. Or, he may talk at a War Bond rally at the high school. Chances are he'll ask if you'll buy more Bonds. Will you look on it as a request for a donation? Or will you look on it as an opportunity to build up the financial reserve every business-like farmer or rancher has to have to run his place profitably?

No need to tell you it takes money to run a war. No need to tell you it's your war, your liberty at stake. But we're all human and just a little bit given to "letting George do it." Only this time we're all George. We've got to do it! And in buying those Bonds, we're doing ourselves as big a service as we are our fighting men and our country. We're building strength—personal financial strength—with which to meet the inevitable problems of tomorrow.

Something Worth Buying

Maybe you have a son off at war. What a homecoming when he gets into his jeans and you've both got those Bonds to fall back on for the machinery and equipment and buildings you'll be needing in the future. And how about the education you've promised yourself you'd give your children?

And that long vacation in the sunshine you and your wife have so long deserved? All these things take money—and the only way to have these things is to save that money now. U.S. War Bonds are the safest and most liquid investments you can make for these future needs—needs worth providing for!

For Your Future • For Your Country's Future • For Your Children's Future

Return of the Warrior

A little house, small, plain and white. Yet, stately in the sun's warm light; Green shutters softening the glow That steals into its rooms of light.

As I climb the hill my thoughts flash back To long nights over there when rifles cracked In unison with shells that screamed in flight. Leaving death to haunt a jungle night.

Everything has bloomed a lovely green. Yet, strange enough, to me it seems unreal, and I can catch in gleams Spent fragments of those cannon-shattered dreams.

Scratching It May Cause Infection

For quick relief from itching caused by eczema, athlete's foot, scabies, pimples and other itching conditions, use pure, cooling, medicated, liquid D. B. D. PRESCRIPTION. A doctor's formula. Creams and ointments soothe, but this liquid quickly calms intense itching. 35c trial bottle proves it, or money back. Don't suffer. Ask your druggist today for D. B. D. PRESCRIPTION.

But I'm not dreaming, I am here, And now the hilltop's drawing near. There below the valley lies The brook reflecting cloudless skies.

I'm running now, my heart is beating fast, And there it is in tear-dimmed sight at last.

Up the cinder path, across the lawn, My heart aches joyously, compulsion's gone, And tears fall unashamed: Oh God, I give Thee thanks, I'm home again!

Arlington Allied War Relief Committee

Mrs. Hilmer Anderson and twelve of her Arlington Heights group attended the luncheon of the Arlington Allied War Relief Committee on Monday, expecting to hear Mrs. Langendoen, head of the Netherlands Relief, who was advertised to be the luncheon guest of Mrs. Harold B. Wood, chairman of the Allied War Relief, but illness prevented her being present. The Anderson Group is one of the many enthusiastic workers who each week bring many completed garments.

The menu on Monday, which was served to ninety, consisted of corn chowder, a green salad, brown betty, tea or coffee. The chairman, Mrs. Gladys Pitch, reported $12.58 realized from the luncheon. Apples for the dessert were given by Mrs. Richard Lindley.

One hundred and fifty-six registered at the day.

The Gift Table earned $11.25. This is clear profit, for the articles offered for sale are voluntary contributions. Gifts this week were from Mrs. Ralph Cutter, Mrs. Hector Hawke and Mrs. Fred Campbell.

Mrs. Charles J. Stiff brought to the Monday meeting many pairs of demolition mitts that had been made by women of the Park Street Church, Boston. Mrs. Humbert Becket brought four pairs of pants; Mrs. Arthur Wyman, two baby bunting; Junior High School group brought several most attractively made dresses. Mrs. Ella Tebeau has completed her sixty-fourth pair of Russian overalls. Mrs. Harry Revell has made one hundred and four hospital slippers since December 28th.

Mrs. Cooley, one of the expert cutters of baby garments, brought to this meeting three baby bunting, besides a child's coat—all most attractive in color and beautifully made.

There was an unusually large group of workers at the blood donors' sponges table, which work is supervised by Mrs. George B. C. Rugg, first vice-president of the Allied War Relief.

The yarn table was busy this week, and Mrs. William Lutz and Miss Sarah Bullock gave out Dutch and Russian yarn that had been donated by the parent organizations. English and American yarn was available. This had been purchased by the local committee. More yarn will be ready for next week's distribution.

The sale of stamps and bonds amounted to $537.00.

The food table, under the supervision of the P. T. A. of the Crosby School, earned $19.16. It was in charge of Mrs. Charles Bunnell, Mrs. Charles Larden, Mrs. Charles Carey and Mrs. Fred Greenwood.

Others who contributed were Mrs. George Reynolds, Mrs. George Hardy, Mrs. Edwin Barnard, Mrs. Harry Tourangeau, Mrs. Scott Crobie, Mrs. Virginia Eldridge, Mrs. Thomas Locke, Miss Higgins, and Charles Margostan.

Next Monday the table will be in charge of the Girl Scout Leaders' Association, Mrs. J. Phillip Bower, chairman.

The tea which is served for a small sum at the close of the day by Mrs. Abram Genge and Mrs. William Blasdale, is always programming. It earned on Monday, $5.90.

Mrs. William Sinclair, Jr., will have charge of the tea in connection with the auction trinket and treasure sale to be given in St. John's Parish House Wednesday, February 16th, for the benefit of China Relief and the local Allies. Donations for
